The purpose of this meeting is for the board and management to make a decision on the irrigation season start-up date.

The board will not be accepting comments. This is strictly a decision-making meeting as to the date of season start-up.

The board and management will evaluate weather and river flow conditions to assist in making the decision for the specific date which will be between April 1st and April 10th.

Based on patron input, we are currently planning to run all available water to all deliveries at approximately 4.5 gpm until the supply runs out. Running on rotation does extend the availability of irrigation water but many patrons indicate that the intermittent water delivery negatively affects crop growth to such an extent that running water straight through is likely to produce better results by allowing for sufficient water for normal crop growth at the beginning of the irrigation season.
